PEACE TREATY SIGNED

The protocol signed on Saturday at ailles showed that, with the ex on of the United States, a state peace existed between Germany the Allied and Associated Pow The relations between the State and Gormany are still regulated by glet terms of the armistice. The treaty of poses might easily have been pigned a year ago had it not been to the introduction by the President of the United States of the exheme for a League of Nations. The discussion of this League consumed months of valuable time, during which not only Germany but other countries became a prey to unrest and revolution which might have been avoided had peace been brought to the world without such protracted delay. Had peace to be a support of the provisions might long ago have been put in force and those peoples who were to have the status in the comity of nations defined would have been at rest by this time. and Gormany are still regulated by

"But the war is over, and though we have large problems of reconstruction with us, it is fille to contend that these are war problems, for they are unot. They are essentially peace problems, and no camoufage on the part of Cabinet Ministers can convince the people to the contrary." It also says: "It is preposterous to suppose that the private members at Otjawa will continue for three more sessions to sit didy and suck their thumbs, while the hold-over Ministers present copiletes at all, but simply compromise and excuses for policies."

What a Wealth of Happiness Their Merriment Foretells.

Thus the post wrote and I, too, would write about bells. I had it in mind to ask you where you stood regarding this controversy with the combinesters. But I have already had my answer, and it came to me through the bells, "the merry, merry jingle of the bells." The thing they brought was not exactly happiness but it was a feeling of deep satisfaction. All day Saturday the bells of our cash registers rang out your answer to the base attack of the monopolist. Yes, and incidentally they rang in one of the biggest day's businesses ever crowded across Garroll's counters. Then, too, there were the telephone bells and nine times out of ten it was some one with words of sympathy and support. But even that was not all, because many messages came by mail and more were given personally. And on top of all that, the very winds that blew wasted towards me words of assuring comfort.

Down from the southwest came a mighty roar like unto the belowing of an enraged bull. It had me scared stiff until the sense of it penetrated to me that sturdy, strident voice crying out:

"Lay On, Macduif!

OH. YOU JOHN, OLD SON, OLD SON.

I could have punched the wicked heart right out of your sinful old body for very joy at knowing that you were with me.

Please don't be trivial about this, dearest. Believe me! I am not the only person who can put you into a transe. Somebody else ean—and has just proved it. Certeis, maybe!" Impossible. I exclaimed. "I'd never let myself be so weak; no man's will can control my mind—and my imagination." I shook my head in honest indiguation. He was and my imagination." I shook my head in honest indiguate. Jet's get at the truth about your experience. I myself didn't see any wrath up there in the loft. I didn't smell any smoke. I aw only the moonlight splotching the floor. Think, dear. Who besides Donna Camilla knew that you were going to keep watch up there to night?

"Yhon it was that grande dame with the Mona Lisa smirk who put it over you, my dear! Donna Camilla is some hypnoists, believe me!"

"It has led to at least one grand discovery, hand," it. Boh! Now see are positive that nobody around this hacienda can be coaxed to enter that haunted loft all. "A grand place to conceal ourselves in case this household turns against us—as it may—and yady—while it he relation between the United States and Mexico is strained."

"The people here will never harm us when Certeis and Don Manuel are around," I remarked.

"But—in case of war—"Bob stopped suddenly and I realized that had dapsed into one of his states of meditation. A vision of that he had dapsed into one of his states of meditation. A vision of my solidier husband looking so handre for a soldier, I feared any came to me, in the might happen along. I feared for myself while I hoped for my country. Bob was a good soldier. I told myself, and his soldiering abroad had rooted itself deep in his ambitions. I read his thought before he spoke:

"How I wish I could get news from the border," he said. "The army of the United States must be gathering north of the Rio, to prevent trouble with Mexico, not to create it. You don't mind, dear, if I say! would like to be doing my bit for the Sah the grany, Bob. Pate has picked you and placed you down here—ready for a great part—I am secure, if this trouble between the two countries comes to anything at all!"

"Chance has certainly wished something on me this time, my love. I can't and a the sighed. "I'd give a lot for news from God's country," just now."

In answer to his wish, news came next day. And the nessenger was a most surprising one.

SURVEY OF OUTLOOK IN CANADA AT ROYAL BANK ANNUAL MEETING

Sir Herbert Holt, President, Reviews Progress Made by Bank in Past Fifty Years. Edson L. Pesse, Vice-President and Managing Director, Deals With Prin-cipal Problems Ahead of Canada. Sees Hope of Some Amelioration in Exchange Conditions in the Near Future. C. E. Neill, General Manager, Pays Strong Tribute to Staff.

The shareholders of The Royal Bank of Canada, when they assembled for the annual meeting at the head office of the bank, received reports which indicated that the past year had been the most prosperous in the history of the institution.

The meeting also marked the close of the Golden Jubilee Year of the bank and on this account the leading officials took occasion, in their addresses, to refer to many of the features of the progress which the bank had enjoyed.

GROWTH OF BANK.

wagen toe bank had enjoyed.

GROWTH OF BANK.

Sir Herbert Holt, the president, stated that the report presented was the most satisfactory in the Bank's history and fittingly marked the Jubiley every. Years since our incorporation." said Sir Herbert. "we have grown from a local bank to an international institution with a steadly rising place among the great banks of the world. Our paid-up capital has increased from $300,000 to $17,000,000, our servers from $20,000 to $18,000,000, and our assets from less than a million to over half a billion dollars.

Most of this phenomenal progress has been made in recent years, but tribute is due to the prudence and wide vision of those carly administrators who lidd as solidly and broadly the foundation upon which the properties of the produce and wide vision of those and the state of the produce and wide vision of those years ago, have we drawn on our reserve. Throughout our career, advantage has been taken of every favorable opportunity both at inone and abroad to extend our operations and to add to our resources. This expansion has proved beneficial not only to the bank but to the Dominion. In 1870 our profits were 4 per eart, on our working resources. Now, owing to the volume of business, we are affording increased facilities on a return of less than one per eent. On total assets.
